

Our family is so happy with the current Telephone Consumer Protection Act. Our time together is precious. Also, it protects us from literally letting strangers into our home through the phone. No one should have the ability, whether in person or by telephone, to invade our privacy.